

Stayton Public Library Presents

JEAN MOULE, PHD

Nurturing Your Grandchildren: Black, White, and In-Between

A talk on nurturing families in a growing multicultural world

Thursday,
November 12
7:00 p.m.

E.G. Siegmund Meeting Room
Wine & Cheese reception

Moule is a mother of biracial children and a grandmother to multi-racial children and an emerita faculty member at Oregon State University, whose most popular class is “Cultural and Racial Harmony.” Her newest book, Nurturing Grandchildren: Black, White & In-between, uses funny, sad, and inspirational columns, in-depth information, and lively illustrations and photos as a resource to help adults encourage and support multicultural children who can play a positive role in the complicated racial relations in our nation.

STAYTON PUBLIC LIBRARY | 515 N 1st AVE.

503-769-3313 | www.staytonlibrary.org